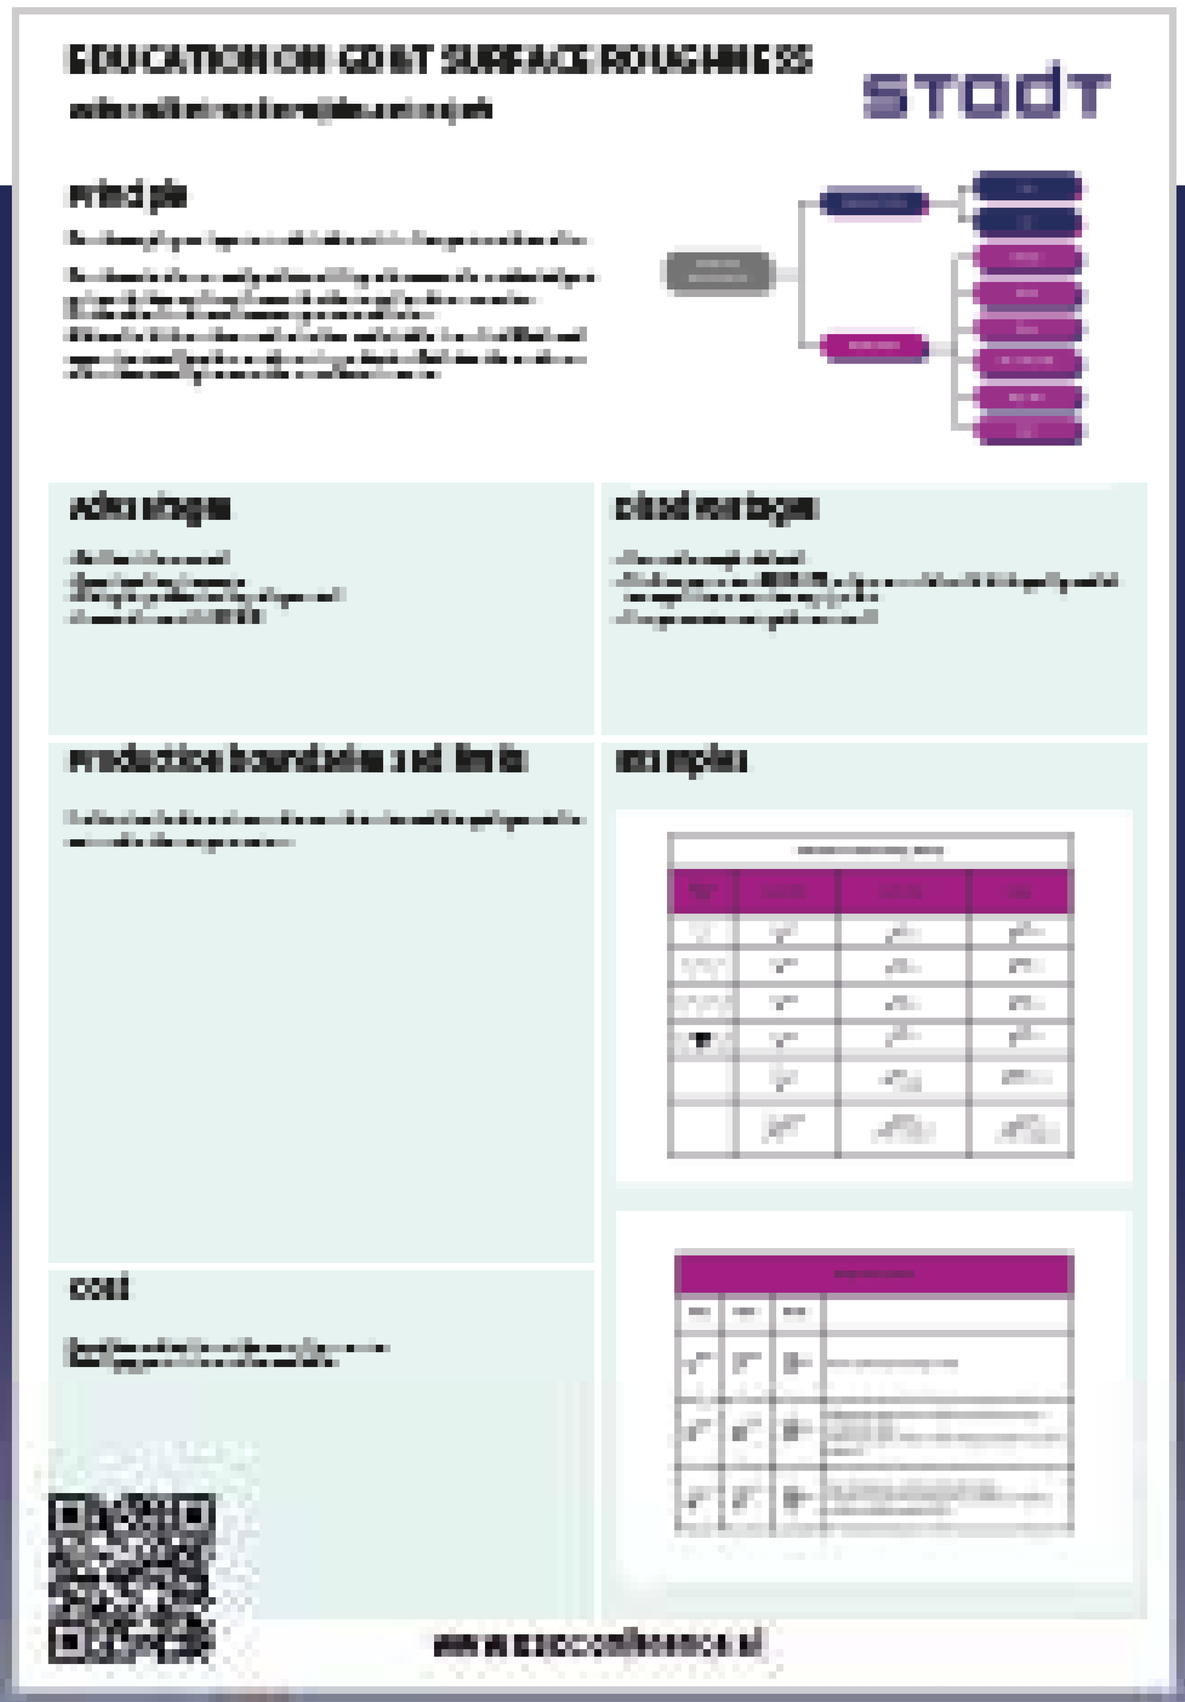
STODT

Education on GD&T in particular Surface Roughness

STODT is the technical business training provider specialising in machining and measuring. STODT focuses on practice-oriented training concepts and innovative teaching materials to get more out of production with the same skilled workers. We have high-quality machinery and a broad partner network.


More information: